

Smart ET controller

ET stands for Evapotranspiration. Evapotranspiration is a term that explains how much water evaporation is lost from soil and how much water transpiration is released from plants. A smart controller (irrigation timer) waters the landscape by the weather and applies the amount of water back into the landscape that has been lost by Evapotranspiration.

